ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—The London papers of the 2d inst. contain the following:

Since his commitment to Newgate on the charge of fraudulently obtaining the sum of £1,000 from the late Lord Mayor, the person calling himself the Marquis de Morancy and Count de Montaigne has attempted to burn himself to death. Although the jet of gas in his cell is closely guarded by wire netting, and is at a considerable height from the floor, he succeeded in lighting at it a small slip of paper which he set fire to his clothes. These were partially burned, and the pain caused by the scorching he received was so great that he was obliged to utter cries which immediately attracted the attention of the wardens. He was wearing at the time an overcoat, trimmed with costly fur, which he had on at the Mansion House, and it was completely destroyed. The career of the prisoner seems to have been of a most extraordinary character. He was one time on the literary staff of the Gaulois, and it is now stated that he was in France on a charge of murder by poisoning. After his arrival in this country he moved in the highest society and displayed fascinating power of conversation. He is also a good musician and speaks five languages. It seems probable that if he had been allowed to be a little longer in this country before embarking on his American scheme. As it was his path was not without its petty difficulties, for the warden under the necessity of pledging a pair of boots in order to pay his cab fare one evening when dining out.

TWENTY MILES WITHIN THE HOUR.—Mattie Howard, who recently trotted twenty miles within the hour over the Agricultural Park course near San Francisco, California, is described as a chestnut sorrel mare, by Owen Dale, out of a Spanish mare. She is fourteen hands high and weighs about 700 pounds; her age is a matter of some dispute, Col. G. W. Dickey, her owner, claiming that she is only eight years old. Her previous performances were two races, each of five mile heats, one of which she won, while her time record for a mile was 2:35. The race in question was for $500 to $1,000 that she could not trot twenty miles within an hour, in harness, the driver to weigh 150 pounds. During the race she went exceedingly steady, making only one break, and that in the first quarter of the twentieth mile. After the race she showed but few signs of exhaustion, many present declaring their belief that she could have done the distance much faster. The following is the time each mile was done in: First mile, 2:59; second mile, 3:00; third mile, 3:24; fourth mile, 3:01; fifth mile, 2:55 4/5; sixth mile, 2:47; seventh mile, 3:02; eighth mile, 2:56; ninth mile, 2:58; tenth mile, 2:51; eleventh mile, 2:56; twelfth mile, 3:05; thirteenth mile, 2:55; fourteenth mile, 3:59; fifteenth mile, 3:01; sixteenth mile, 3:01; seventeenth mile, 3:04; eighteenth mile, 2:55; nineteenth mile, 3:00; twentieth mile, 3:04. Aggregate time, 59:30, leaving the mare 29 1/2 seconds to spare.

THE DUC D'AUMALE.—The Orleanist Prince, whose name has been brought prominently before the public in connection with the executive chair of France, is forty-nine years old, and is a worthy descendant of his ancestor, the great Conde. He is the fourth son of Louis Philippe, and was born in Paris, January 16th, 1822. His full name is Henri Eugene Philippe Louis d'Orleans. He was educated with his brothers at the College Henri Gregoire, and entered the army at the early age of sixteen. He distinguished himself in the Algerian campaign of 1840, and in 1842 and 1843, while commanding a division of troops, captured 3,600 Arabs and a great treasure, together with the camp and correspondence of Abdel-Kader. For this exploit he was created Lieutenant General. In 1847, he succeeded Marshal Bugeaud in the command of Algeria. After the revolution of 1848, when the royal family fled France, he took up his residence on British soil, that refuge for peccators for all Europe, and lived in elegant leisure at a villa near Twickenham on the Thames. In 1861, he addressed a pamphlet on political matters to Prince Napoleon, which led to an angry discussion. Finally, the Duke challenged the Prince, who refused to fight. The Duke was married in 1844 to Marie Caroline de Bourbon, daughter of Prince Leopold, of Salerno. They have one son living, born in 1854.

TEXAS CATTLE.—Few people have an adequate idea of the magnitude of the Texas cattle trade. It is estimated that 600,000 head have been driven from Texas into Kansas, Nebraska, and the Western States and territories during the past year. It takes about 20,000 head of beef annually to supply the Indians for these the Government pay. In all the range of country between the Rocky Mountains and the Mississippi, as high up as British America, they receive cattle from Texas. As they are driven in immense droves through the Indian country without molestation. As a drove travels but six or eight miles a day, when on a long journey, the cattle improve and increase in flesh when the grass is good. Many cattle are driven to the Pacific coast, but in this trade few calves are taken, the principle portion of the droves consisting of heifers intended for stock raisers. It takes two seasons to get a drove through from Texas to Washington Territory on the Pacific, but the prices obtained there yield a heavy profit to the drovers.

COMMUNICATION BETWEEN DOVER AND CALAIS.—We learn that the French Government has given orders for plans and surveys to be made for the construction of large steamers for the service between Calais and Dover. These steamers are to carry thirty railway carriages, and the transit is to be made in one hour and ten minutes. M. Dupuy de Loue is entrusted with the preparation of the plans of a water-station, which will be situated two kilometers from Dover. The depth of water here will be sufficient to receive vessels of the largest tonnage and the enormous transport steamers. A branch terminating in the maritime station, will be prolonged to the new water station, and thus the railway carriages will be placed on the deck of the steamers. This project, which was brought forward some few years ago, has now every chance of being carried out, as it is entrusted to men of such talent as MM. Dupuy de Loue and Behic.

DRUGS AND CHEMICALS.

SIMMONS' LIVER
The symptoms of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side, Sourness of the stomach, and in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternating with laxity. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the liver is generally the organ most involved. Cure the Liver with
